Hello SARC:

This month represents a big milestone in SARC history. This is our 75th Anniversary which occurs this month on Friday April 23rd. It is unfortunate, under current circumstances we cannot have a big club event with a birthday bash and get together.

The club founders would be proud to know their fledgling group of amateur radio enthusiasts would form a club that would be around 75 years later. How things have changed. They would be astonished by the technology available today. Semiconductors, flat panel displays, digital modes and amateur satellites are just a few of revolutionary developments in our hobby since the 1940's.

The club has a wonderful history of being one of the powerhouse clubs in North America that hosted the ARRL National Convention in 1977.

Time marches on and so does the Scarborough Amateur Radio Club. Your participation enthusiasm and support continue to be appreciated and we look forward to continuing the legacy of our founders.
